

Short CV: Christian Mølgaard MD PhD , born 26 June 1955

Work: Department of Human Nutrition, Faculty of Life Sciences, University of Copenhagen, Rolighedsvej 30, 1958 Frederiksberg C. Tlf 35332517, cm@life.ku.dk

Present appointments

Associate professor in paediatric nutrition at Department of Human Nutrition, Faculty of Life Sciences, University of Copenhagen since February 1999.

Senior consultant (speciallæge konsulent) at the Paediatric Nutrition Unit, Juliane Marie Centre, Rigshospitalet, Copenhagen since 2002.

Degrees:

Medical doctor, graduated January 1981

Permission to practice independently as physician (full registration), July 1988

Ph.D., January 1997

Short summary of previous appointments:

District medical officer (1 2 month), medical doctor in the Danish National Defense (13 months), Dept of Surgery (27 months), Dept. of Anaesthesia (14 months), Dept. of Internal Medicine (12 months), Dept. of Psychiatry (6 months), Dept. of Gynaecology and Obstetrics Dept.(5 months), Dept. of Otolaryngology (6 months), resident at general practitioner (6 months), Dept. of Paediatrics (47 months), research appointments (from August 1992).

Research Areas:

Nutrition in infancy, childhood and adolescence.

Bone mineralization and body composition in children and adolescent.

Glucose and insulin metabolism in childhood.

Obesity in infancy, childhood and adolescence.

Teaching experience:

Teaching at MSc in Human Nutrition.

Supervisor of bachelor, master and PhD theses.

PhD thesis:

Christian Mølgaard. Bone mineralisation during growth. The influence of growth, puberty and calcium intake (in Danish). January 1997.