

Curriculum Vitae

Stefanie Sausenthaler, PhD

Age: 30

Current Research Interests:

- Dietary intake of fatty acids and antioxidants in relation to allergic diseases and other health outcomes
- Association between maternal diet during pregnancy and allergic diseases in the offspring
- Programming effects of early taste experiences
- Development and validation of a food-frequency questionnaire for school-age children

Education:

- 2008: PhD in Human Biology at Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich, Germany (Faculty of Medicine)
PhD Thesis: ‘Socioeconomic determinants of dietary fat intake and the effect of dietary fat intake on allergic diseases in children’
- 2004: Diploma in Nutrition Science at the Technical University Munich-Weihenstephan, Germany
Diploma thesis: ‘Sodium intake and bronchial hyperresponsiveness’

Experience:

- since 2008: Post Doctoral Fellow at Helmholtz Zentrum München, Institute of Epidemiology, Unit of Environmental Epidemiology
- 2004-2007: PhD student at Helmholtz Zentrum München, Institute of Epidemiology, Unit of Environmental Epidemiology